

IMMERSIVE LEADERSHIP

Save the Titanic

Your leaders diagnose, decide, and act together when the pressure is real, and you see who leads when it counts.

"Our teams work in silos."

"We cannot tell who is ready to lead."

WHAT HAPPENS

Your team sits as the Senior Officers on the Titanic's maiden voyage. Dozens of real situations arrive faster than the room wants them to, and every one demands a diagnosis, a plan, an action, and a result.

Nobody explains leadership. Participants live it. The ones who think on their feet show up. So do the ones who freeze, and the ones who quietly hold the team together.

The debrief ties each moment to the way your team works on a normal Tuesday: how ideas get killed, how decisions slow, how root causes get skipped.

WHAT CHANGES

- Teams collaborate toward one goal instead of protecting their function
- Decisions speed up when the stakes are high, and the team could name why
- Root cause replaces symptom-chasing as the default move
- You leave knowing who leads under pressure, with evidence you watched

HOW WE MEASURE

The Facilitator debrief names what the room revealed: who led, where decisions slowed, what the team committed to. You receive the commitments in writing, tied to names and dates.

HOW IT FITS WHAT YOU HAVE

Maps to the competency model you already use. Runs as a module inside an existing leadership curriculum or as the immersive anchor a curriculum is missing. Reinforcement assets load into your LMS.
